In Memoriam of Dallas Charles Lewis May 23, 1975 - July 14, 2023

My dearest sweet Dallas, There is no one else I would rather scale a cliff without gear, walk on glass floors and little bridges high up in the sky, build a blanket fort, or set up a tent in the middle of winter with. No one else I would want to get trapped on an island, be detained in customs, or accidentally forget our passports and roam the streets of Cuba with. You made waking up in a field surrounded by cows, being woken up by men with machine guns, chasing storms, sitting out under the lightning and rain, having fires in winter storms, and just staring up at the stars in silence into fun adventures filled with great joy. I will forever be grateful for our friendship and your love. You took good care of me. You're my favorite human; there is no better man on earth.

You are an exceptional person with unmatched genius, so much empathy and kindness, a true gentleman with a brilliant mind. You were a simple man who never wanted anything material or otherwise. You just were magnificent! People, animals, and all creatures flocked toward you. Lion, raccoon, owl, or fox—you could talk to the animals, and they put great trust in you. You had the most beautiful gift of making people feel seen by sharing your humble self, the brightest light in the darkest room.

I miss how you would look at me when I said something ridiculous, and I loved how you didn't always let me have my own way. You didn't always agree with me, but you always supported me and caught me when I fell. Never once in our twenty-eight years did you utter hateful words or even get angry; you only extended kindness. Even when I did something foolish, like getting the jeep stuck and trying to fix it on my own ending with a two-thousand-dollar price tag, you were understanding. I miss competing with you, even though I always knew you would win. There truly was nothing you couldn't do to perfection. I could say I was envious, but I was really in awe of you.

You are my idol—I would make a deal with God to swap out places because you were most definitely the better human being and did it without a drop of effort. I never could have imagined that I would have to go through this life without you by my side. I needed you, Dallas!! You were the key to our dreams, and in your absence, the world no longer makes sense. I should have had you all the time, and now I have you never. The view is empty without your kayaks, wind-sailing, and parasailing—I wish you could have had your dream! It will never look the same without your loving smile and exquisite blue eyes. You were more than just a person; you were a god among men. There will never be another who knows me as well as you did. You unequivocally loved me despite my flaws and weaknesses.

To say I miss you would be an understatement. Every breath is truly agonizing; the lights went out in your absence, and I can't see a light at the end of the tunnel anytime soon. I fight to keep the parts of me that you loved the most, though it's difficult. I try to find the simplicity in life and steal little moments in my hectic days. I would not trade a second of this pain if it meant losing the time I did have with you. A hundred more hours, and I would want a thousand more. There is no end to the time I would want to spend with you.

My dear sweet friend and beloved, you are missed and loved deeply and sincerely, and so profoundly saddened that your life was cut short and you suffered so much pain on your way out the door. I hope you are at peace. Our love sustains me for a million lifetimes; your beauty surrounds me always, and your kindness follows me throughout my days. What remains of us is our love and that story hasn't ended yet!

*Love,
Now, Always and Forever,
Your loving wife
E*
